PARODY

Of Alexander Selkirk's Verses supposed to be written on the Island of Juan Fernandez.

Delighted with all I survey,
Though my pleasures each neighbour disputes,
I ramble by night or by day,
Or study at home, as it suits.
These, SOLITUDE! these are the charms
Which they have enjoyed as so sweet,
Who, leaving a world of alarms,
Found a snug philosophick retreat.

Here, POLITICKS, out of your reach,
I spend my chief moments alone;
E'en SCANDAL annoys not,—for speech
I turn from—unless 'tis my own.
The squirrels and birds in the wood
Show a tameness I cannot condemn,
And by their expressions, tho' rude,
Invite my attention to them.

SOCIETY, FRIENDSHIP, and LOVE
Whose interests my fate seems to thwart,
How closely the feelings ye wove
Were wrapped round the ball of my heart!
O might I those sorrows assuage
Which shaded the joys of my youth,
And find, in the bosom of age,
The balm of RELIGION and TRUTH.

Religion! how much we are told
It is in thy power to do,
Notwithstanding we daily behold
Thy genuine converts so few!
Tho' nought but the war-whoop and yell
Ever echoed amongst these thick boughs,
Till Christians came hither to dwell,
And dug up the soil with their ploughs;

Yet often the muses, in sport,
Convey to my desolate heart
A je ne sais quoi—charm—a sort
Of balsam that soothes every smart.
"Thy friends too," they whisper me send
Kind wishes and thoughts after thee;
Though I say to myself, that no friend
Will ever care sixpence for me.

"They, now," says the muse, "know a mind
That suffers afflictions not slight,
And wouldst though permit them, how kind
Would they prove themselves still, if they might!
Then think of thy own native soil
And sometimes suppose thyself there,
Where oft thou hast called forth a smile,
Or, at least, hast awakened a stare"

But lo! a wild thought in my breast
Breaks in on this fanciful sham,
And PHILOSOPHY tells me 'tis best
Contented to be where I am;
For happiness is not confin'd
To friendships particular spots,
And men are both foolish and blind
Who do not put up with their lots.

THE RECLUSE.

Banks of the Monongahela

From the Connecticut Spectator.

WHAT THEN!

As a diligent use of these two words has been very beneficial to myself, I am convinced that, if they were properly regarded, they might be equally beneficial to others.

When I was seventeen years of age, my father died, and left my mother, with myself and six other children, in great distress. My aunt, offered to take me as a chambermaid. As I was lively, well shaped, and had a pleasing countenance, some of my friends disapproved my acceptance of this offer.

An old officer who had been my father's friend, heard of it, and sent for me advising me not to refuse it, conditionally that I would fortify myself daily by looking up to God for protection, and he added likewise, that he had prepared a faithful monitor to accompany me at all times and in all places; to which if I paid a due regard; I should be preserved from the danger so much dreaded. He then gave me, written in large letters on a card, what then! enjoining me always to have it about me, and frequently to reflect on it. He moreover charged me, that whenever any one flattered me, by commending my person, discoursing amorously, or making love, as it is called, I should steadily reply, what then! and as often as any of them repeated their protestations of love, &c. I should as often repeat what then!

I assured him I should endeavor to follow his advice, and accordingly went to live with my aunt. I had soon many admirers, to whose addresses I always replied what then! It had the intended effect; and thus I got rid of many vicious solitations and impertinent lovers; and so preserved my character unsullied.

But I was once in very great danger; for a sprightly young farmer gained possession of my heart, whose character and circumstances were such as in all probability might make the marriage state happy: he seemed very fond of me, often professed how much he loved me, but never proposed marriage;—I had therefore recourse to my faithful monitor, and so repeatedly that I found him alarmed by it; for at length in answering what then! he replied, "I mean to marry you." This he accordingly did. I am now very happily situated, which I attribute to the constant application of my monitor.

This inestimable preservative I would recommend to all young women, to secure them against the various arts of seduction, so frequently practised to the ruin of the unguarded. Consider well these two important words, what then! Pause awhile—beware—resist the temptation. What must be the consequence of listening to these seducers——Ah! what then!

Mahomet the second, that conquered Constantinople, had a most beautiful virgin named Irene, brought to him when he was sacking that city; and he was so [illegible] of her company, that he forsook haws, and disregarded all the affairs of his empire. But he could not bear it to be said, that he who had conquered so much, was at length led captive by a woman. And therefore, when he understood that his bashaws were dissatisfied with his conduct, and was afraid of losing his reputation, he commanded Irene to attire herself in the richest and costliest apparel that could be devised. This being done, he took her by the hand, and led her into the room where all his bashaws were assembled by his command, and asked whether each of them would not, as well he, forget every thing but her. They were so amazed to see such a wonderful beauty, that they condemned themselves for censuring the emperor, and justified him in what he had done. But Mahomet told them, that he would show them he was master of his passions; and immediately struck off her head.

From the Literary Panorama.

MUNIFICENCE OF THE EMPEROR ALEXANDER.

His majesty the Emperor of Russia has performed an act of goodness and munificence towards a Greek Priest, a long time resident in Paris. In it may be distinguished that noble and affecting grace which this monarch infuses into all his actions. We proceed to give some details of the respectable personage who was the object of it:—

Isa Carus, a Greek prelate, born at Bethlehem, in the Holy Land, descending from the line of Jesse, and of the royal house of David, was sent by the religious of Mount Libanus, as an Apostolic Missionary, into Europe. He travelled through many realms of this part of the world, fulfilling with a holy zeal the functions with which he was intrusted by his Order. He resided for a long time in Rome, where he enjoyed a high consideration with Pope Pius VI. and his successor, who heaped on him riches and dignity.

The Grand Duke of Russia, afterwards Paul I. and also Joseph II. Emperor of Austria, travelling in Italy, did not disdain to visit and dine with him. During his residence at Rome, he performed important services to Count Shonwaloff, when that Admiral commanded the Russian fleet in the Mediterranean. The Empress Catharine condescended to acknowledge her gratitude to him in a letter written by her own hand, filled with the most flattering testimonials.

Isa Carus resided at Naples at the time of the revolution, and at the moment when the French were at the gates of the city, his energetic exhortations to the Lazaroni, prevented them from proceeding to excesses; their respect and veneration for him caused him to be accused of favoring the Jacobin party, and he was thrown into a dungeon; he still bears the marks of the irons with which he was loaded. After eight years of most frightful captivity, he was removed to France, where he has resided ten years. Deprived of support and assistance, oppressed with years and infirmities, a minister of a religion foreign to France, he had fallen into the most dreadful indigence, and was compelled to solicit public charity. At the entry of the Allies, in 1814, he fled to the field of battle, under the walls of Paris, and afforded the consolations of his ministry to the wounded and the dying; he constantly visited the sick Russians who were in the hospitals, and became their interpreter. Denied resources, he had recourse to the goodness of the Emperor Alexander; filled with confidence in his magnanimity, he related his misfortunes with the accents of truth. His Majesty received with the most affecting kindness, deigned to give him proofs of his religious respect; and after having conversed more than an hour with this venerable old man, he decorated him himself with the cross of St. Woledimer, and granted him a pension of a thousand roubles, promising him also that he would make interest for him with the king of France, that a church might be granted him in Paris, where he would be permitted to celebrate Mass according to the rights of the Greek Church.

From the N. York Commercial Advertiser, December 28.

Last evening arrived at this port the remarkably fast sailing schr. Spartan, Capt. Johnson, in 27 days from Bordeaux. By this arrival the Editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have received a file of Bordeaux papers to the 24th of Nov. and Paris papers, printed in English, to the 20th inclusive, from which the following extracts are made. The trial of Marshal Ney, it will be seen, was to commence on the 21st November in the Chamber of Peers.

Our correspondent at Bordeaux, under date of the 23d of November, writes as follows:—"Nothing material has transpired since I forwarded the last papers. The trial of Marshal Ney excites universal interest; the royal party, influenced by the cabinet of St. James, will no doubt destroy him if possible; but seven-eighths of the French people consider him the brightest character they can boast, and will feel their subjugation more acutely than they already do, if he is sentenced to death."

PARIS, Nov. 17.—A considerable number of Prussians are still in the neighbourhood of Longwy, Montmedi and Sedan; Gen. Zeithen has his head-quarters in this last city. The whole country is so exhausted, that provisions are obliged to be sent for from other parts of the kingdom.

At Rennes and Grenoble, orders have been given to public house keepers, masters of coffee houses, &c. to shut up their houses at ten o'clock at night; in the latter city, it is forbidden to go out after that hour without a light.

The Emperor of Austria left Botzen on the 28th ult. and went to Trente, where he arrived the same day at noon. The Empress arrived there a few hours afterwards, and on the 29th their majesties continued their journey by the of Valsugani, towards Italy. On the 31st they made their solemn entry into Venice.

Letters from Dresden state that the public spirit in Saxony is very different from that of the other kingdoms. The nation does not disguise its dissatisfaction at the partition of that kingdom.—Not a single town in Saxony celebrated the anniversary of the 18th of October, which was a day of general rejoicing throughout all the rest of Germany.—Several families wore mourning on that day. Nearly the same opinions prevail throughout Bavaria and Wirtemberg, as well as in the Grand Duchies of Baden and Hesse. The passage of troops every where increases public misery, and consequently the general discontent.

We hear that Marshal Ney was this night transferred from the Conciergerie to the Luxembourg.

Nov. 20.—Marshal Ney has written to the Ministers of the Allied Powers, to reclaim the strict execution of the convention of the 3d July last, for the surrender of Paris, by which an amnesty for all acts posterior to the 20th March was stipulated by the generals of the allied forces. Madame Ney has had an interview on this subject with the Duke of Wellington, who observed to her, that the convention of the 3d of July had never been ratified by his Majesty Louis XVIII. and that in consequence the Allies could not interfere in any measures which the King might think proper to adopt in order to insure the interior tranquility of the state.

In the Chamber of Peers on the 17th, it was unanimously resolved, that Marshal Ney should be delivered over to the Chamber, and that his trial should begin on Tuesday the 21st inst.

MARSHAL MACDONALD.

Our readers know that Marshal Macdonald was of Scotch parentage; to this fact we are able to add, from the best authority, that of the Marshal himself, some further particulars. These are contained in a letter written by him from Bourges, the head-quarters of the army of the Loire, on the 25th ult. to a near relation in Scotland. It may be necessary however to premise, that the father of Macdonald was a native of South Hist, in the Western Hebrides; but that the Marshal himself was born in France, his father being married to a French lady after his emigration to that country, to which he had passed over—'the last companion of that unfortunate prince Charles Stewart.'

In the letter to his relation, speaking of their common ancestry, the Marshal says—'My father, who was educated in Flanders, at the college of Rouay, was, after the disastrous expedition of the year 1745, proscribed in his own country, and left the last companion of the unfortunate prince Charles Stewart; with him he repassed in safety into France, in the service of which he continued from that time. In 1763 he retired successively to St. Omer, Sedan, and at last to Sancerre a little town in the province of Berry, where he terminated a career, honored for his virtues, and by the esteem which was constantly the attendant of them. My mother survived him some years. Of their issue my sister and I are the only survivors.

'The extraordinary events of which France has lately been the theatre and the victim, has prevented me from realizing a project which I had long since formed of visiting the country of my ancestors; but I hope, however, to effect it in the ensuing summer.'

FRENCH CHAMBER OF PEERS.

Sitting of November 13.

The Duke de Richelieu, President of the Council of Ministers, communicated to the Chamber an Ordonnance of his Majesty, dated yesterday, definitively regulating the forms to be adopted, respecting the affair of Marshal Ney, as follows:

Louis, by the grace of God, King of France and Navarre.

By our ordonnance of the 12th of this month, we have determined that the chamber of peers, in the exercise of the judicial functions belonging to it, should preserve its usual organization, and we have already prescribed the principal forms of the process and trial;

Wishing to give our said ordonnance the necessary effect;

Wishing also to give to the debate which may precede the judgment, the publicity prescribed by article 64 of the constitutional charter.

We have ordered and do order as follows:

Art. 1. The procedure shall be introduced on the requisition of our procureur of the royal court of Paris, one of the commissioners delegated by our aforesaid ordonnance.

2. The witnesses shall be examined, and the accused interrogated by our chancellor, president of the chamber of peers, or by one of the peers appointed for that purpose. Process Verbal shall be prepared of all the proceedings, according to the forms established by the code of criminal proceedings.

3. The functions appertaining by law to the greffiers of the courts and tribunals in criminal proceedings shall be exercised by the secretary archivist of the chamber of peers, who shall be assisted by a sworn clerk.

4. The preliminsry proceedings being terminated, they shall be communicated to our commissioners who shall prepare the articles of accusation.

5. The articles of accusation, shall be presented to the chamber of peers, who shall issue, if necessary, the ordonnance of arrest, and fix the day of discussion.

6. The articles of accusation, the ordonnance of arrest, and the list of witnesses shall be notified to the accused by an usher of the chamber of peers.—There shall be furnished to him a copy of the proceedings.

7. The discussion shall be public. On the day fixed by the chamber of peers the accused shall appear assisted by his counsel. One of our commissioners shall exercise the functions of the public ministry.

8. The chamber shall proceed to the examination of witnesses, to discussion, to judgment, and execution, according to the forms prescribed to the special court by the code of criminal proceedings. If however the chamber shall so decide, the judgment shall be pronounced without the accused being present, but publicly and in the presence of his counsel. In that case it shall be read and notified to him at the demand of the public ministry by the officer who shall prepare the process verbal.

Given at the Palace of the Thuilleries, the 12th November, in the year of Grace 1815, and of our reign the 21st.

(Signed) LOUIS.

By the King,
The Minister Secretary of State for the Department of Foreign Affairs, President of the Council of Ministers, (Signed) The Duke de RICHELIEU.

The chamber ordered, that this ordonnance should be transcribed in the process verbal, and deposited in its archieves.

BOSTON, December 30.

On our first page will be found the treaty between the United States and Great-Britain, ratified by the President with the consent of the Senate, the 22d inst.

Those who expected to find its provisions as liberal and beneficial as those of Mr. Jay's treaty, or even the rejected convention of Messrs. Munro and Pinkney, will be disappointed; but letters from Washington say it is understood from our negociators that it was the best which could be obtained at the time, and much better than was anticipated. It does not, however, contain any stipulations respecting our old right to fish on the coast of Newfoundland, &c. nor any regulation of the "right of search," nor "contraband of war."

There is no provision respecting the West-India trade, but each nation is to retain the right to permit or prohibit it. There is this new provision in the treaty, that no prohibition shall be imposed on the exportation or importation of British (and American in English ports) goods to and from the United States and the British territories, which shall not equally extend to all other nations. Should this provision be adopted in a permanent treaty an end will be put to all partial non-importation schemes.

DEER FIGHT.

A gentleman residing on John's Island, hunting there a few days since, discovered the bodies of three dead deer, who had been engaged in fighting, and their horns were so entangled, that they could not be disengaged without breaking them. He has preserved them with the heads of the animals. Instances have before come to our knowledge, of two dead deer being found in a similar situation; but we never before heard of a circumstance like that above related.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1816.

Accounts from the City of Washington of a late date, say, that it is understood that the committee upon the subject, have unanimously determined to recommend a National Bank. The details of the bill are not yet made up.

A bill has been presented to Congress, by Mr. Johnson, of Kentucky, proposing the establishment of three additional military academies—one within the District of Columbia; one at Mount Dearborn in South-Carolina; and one in the vicinity of Newport, Kentucky.

In the House of Representatives of the United States, on the 2d inst. there was an animated debate on the subject of Military Academies. The result of the debate was, that there should not be more than one addition Military Academy; and it is doubtful whether the house will agree upon the point where that one shall be established. The proceedings on this subject, however, the reader will observe, having taken place in committee of the whole, are not conclusive on any point but one, on which there appeared to be a large majority, viz. that if there be but one additional Academy decided on, its location shall not be within the district of Columbia.

In the House of Representatives of the United States on the 29th ult. Mr. [illegible]syth from the committee of foreign [illegible]lations, reported a bill to regulate commerce between the territories of the United States and of his Britannic [illegible]jesty, according to the convention cently ratified by the President—wh was twice read and referred to a co mittee of the whole.

Robbery of the Mail!

On Tuesday night last, the mail com[illegible]form the westward was robbed about f[illegible] miles beyond Moristown, in this coun[illegible] The post-rider states that he was stopp[illegible] by two men, who tied his feet togeth[illegible] and his hands behind his back; that th[illegible] dragged the mail a few steps from hi[illegible] and cut the bags open, searched the l[illegible]ters, and appeared to take out a gr[illegible] deal of plunder. The letters in the w[illegible] were generally opened and thrown do[illegible] When the villians had compleated th[illegible] search, they told the post-rider that th[illegible] were two others concerned and that [illegible] about an hour they would come al[illegible] and untie him, or take his life, as mi[illegible] be agreed upon.—They then left hi[illegible] and he worked off one of his soc[illegible] and got the rope over his heel. H[illegible] made his way to a house and gave the [illegible] larm; but we do not learn that any thi[illegible] has yet transpired to lead to a discove[illegible] of the wretches who committed the robb[illegible] ry.

Considering the general importan[illegible] and the frequent pecuniary value of t[illegible] mail, it must appear very improper expose it unguarded in the night. Y[illegible] the main western mail is generally o[illegible] the greater part of the night, while pass[illegible] ing through this state, exposed to the a[illegible] tack of every villain, with only the pos[illegible] rider to take care of it. If this state [illegible] things should not be altered, all prudent men must decline so hazardous a conveyance for money, and the value of th[illegible] mail establishment on this route will b[illegible] very much reduced.

PARTIES AT WASHINGTON.

"Monroe against the field," we say still. Nevertheless it must be allowed that there are great difficulties and discontents. Pennsylvania is very unmanageable this year. In fact, she put her neck under the Virginia yoke, at the last election, with real grumbling reluctance declaring it was the last time. The N[illegible] York delegation is understood to be pushing Tompkins very hard. In South-Carolina and Georgia Mr. Crawford is very much desired. And there are some who advocate General Jackson. Even Mr. Clay, it is supposed, would not resist the offer, if it was pressed upon him.

Under these circumstances, it is pretty evident that a considerable time will elapse before those who make Presidents for us, will be able to get their caucus machinery ready. And until they are prepared, there will be no caucus. Yet Mr. Monroe will be successful. It is impossible for any candidates, even one of the high pretensions of Mr. Crawford, to contend against the influence of the whole government, especially when it has an enormous amount of secret service money at its disposal. Mr. Monroe is the man. And we advise all office-hunters, sycophants and lickspittles to declare in his favour betimes.

[New-York Courier.

The British papers assert, that there are 40,000 Christians in captivity in Algiere and Tunis; and that the corporation of London were taking measures to effect their liberation.

A few days ago, a person with the appearance of a Frenchman, went on board a brig at Vine Street wharf, deliberately took off his coat and hat, and having ascended the bowsprit, plunged into the river and was drowned. What renders this the more extraordinary is, that he was accompanied by two friends, who took leave of him, and to all appearance, used no dissuasions to deter him from the desperate act. [Phi. Gaz.

We have often heard of criminals breaking out of Jail; but seldom have occasion to record instances of their breaking into prison. A few nights since the jail in this city was entered by two old convicts, who had lately been discharged, and robbed of several articles of wearing apprrel. ib.

The French Duke of Tarentum has been under the necessity of publishing three orders to the army. The first prohibiting all citizens from wearing the insignia of revolt, and from uttering seditious cries; and ordering all such as are guilty of either of those offences to be apprehended and carried before a council of war. The second, ordering the insurrectional movements which have been manifested in several corps of the French army, to be punished in the most exemplary manner; and holding the commanders of regiments responsible for the fulfilment of the order. The third, publishing the arrest of lieut. Rozey, quarter-master Lafontaine, and their accomplices, for instigating a revolt on [illegible]tee 27th September.——The British General Wilson, who has been appointed to the command in Canada, was to embark for that province sometime in [illegible]

GOVERNOR SNYDER AND HIS FRIENDS THE FRENCH.

ONE would imagine that Governor ...der, from the fervency of his feel... displayed in his Message for the ...rows and sufferings of the French ...ple, he would wish to inspire the as... ...bly with similar sentiments. Can it ...supposed that, from the ardour of his ...lings and affections, which induced ...to make it a part of his message, he ...uld wish the assembly so far to par... ...e of his own sympathies, as to pro... ...e some act of their legislative capa... ...approving and applauding the con... ...t of that nation, since the commence... ...nt of their revolution.

...t we may fairly conclude, that he ...uld rather wish the severest censure; ...d invoke the vengeance of man upon ...e barbarous allies, who have retali... ...d upon France, and compelled her to ...k deep of the cup of bitterness which ...presented to the nations of Europe ... "to taste."

The Governor's most "acute feelings" ...manity are so sensibly affected for ...sufferings of his "fellow men" in ...ance, that he cannot refrain from mak... ...it a part of his Message; but he ...ms perfectly callous to the sufferings ...is other fellow men throughout Eu..., which the French nation have in... ...ted upon them, by a series of the ...ntest enormities that ever marked the ...t of the most licentious or barbarous ...ny.

Those other suffering nations have ...ver insulted, abused or plundered us, ...t some of them have contributed to our ...lief in the days of our adversity, as ...ell as the French; and if humanity, ...anity and justice, would have any ...eight with Governor Snyder, they are ...uch more entitled to his sympathy and ...mmisseration, than the French people.

The best rule of judging of the wick... ...ess of a nation or an individual, is ...e extent of the punishment which the ...crees of Heaven or earth may inflict ...on them for their crimes. They cer...ly were permitted, by Divine Pro...idence, to prosecute the works of de... ...truction throughout Europe, for the ...rpose of executing the secret decrees ...his infinite wisdom. These destruc... ...ns and cruelties were of such magni... ...de and extent, as to produce a combi... ...ation of all those powers in a general ...w of self defence; and no doubt, but ...cording to the Divine desire, it ter... ...nated in the overthrow of that terrible ...ranny, and the establishment of uni... ...sal peace and the security of nations ...d individuals.

...ut, it appears, that the cup of their ...xxxxxxxx was not quite full until ...y arrived at Moscow. There it sud... ...ly overflowed; when they compleat... ...d the destruction of that capital and ...out five hundred thousand of its inha... ...tants. From that unparalleled scene ...f human misery, the vengeance of Hea... ...n, regularly pursued them to the cen... ...e of their own capital; and if the humа... ...ty of the allies had permitted the laws ...f retaliation, it might have shared the ...me fate of Moscow. As an evident ...d singular proof of that vengeance, it ...as so ordered, that where the sword ...d the famine could not execute the ...ole of their punishment, the elements ...ombined to compleat the work of their ...struction.

...But it appears from the Governor him...lf, that there is still sufficient cause to ...ntinue his lamentations. COGITATIONS OF UNCLE JOHN.

"A state of society, in which alone true ...ty can be enjoyed, is yet a state of ...tual dependence. This is not only ...e of the strongest ties that bind man... ...d together, but is one of the princi... ...l sources of our happiness. The li... ...ts of this paper will not permit me to ...ce the subject in both its parts; but ...s a matter worthy the attention of the ...rious, to observe how our interests are ...nnected with the interests of hundreds ...others, whose business is again depend... ...t on the business of as many more, ...til we find the whole body of society ...ound together in one chain of depend... ...ce; the rich indebted to the poor, no ...ss than the poor to the bounty and em... ...ployment of the rich.

As I furnish the Gleaner with my co... ...tations, the printer permits me to visit ...s office, and to read the papers. As I ...as sitting by his stove, the other day, ...n a sort of reverie, the thought struck ...e, how many persons and trades must ...e employed to enable him to publish his ...aper; and that the public may be be... ...fitted by my labours.

Binney & Ronaldson, the type-found... ...rs; and Adam Ramage, the press ma... ...er, must first be put in requisition.—...hat to set their trades in motion, a doz... ...n more mechanics must first be put in operation. How endless would be the labour to mention every person who must be employed before the press and types could be procured.

There is then paper to be obtained.—Bless me, what numbers must be set to work to furnish this indispensable article. Methinks I see the rosy cheeked Irish girl, pulling flax on the pleasant borders of the Bann. The rotting, breaking, dressing, spinning, weaving, bleaching, and putting up, give employment and bread to an innumerable multitude. The shipwright, the seamen and the merchant, combine their labours to furnish us on this side the Atlantick with the fine fabricks of Droheda, that our girls may wear nice linen, fit for a wedding or a dance. Then begins the process of reducing it to rags. In a struggle to yield a kiss with proper coyness, the sleeve gets torn, and my lady's maid, in a fit of good nature, receives a present. The maid in due time cuts it up for a humbler, but not less necessary purpose; and in a few more transitions it finds its way to the rag-basket and the paper-mill. At length, having employed the excellent manufactory of Buckingham, it comes forth a pure, white sheet, and receives the impression of "The Cogitations of Uncle John," again finds its way to the toilet of beauty.

Still giving the rein to my imagination, I fell into this train of thought—That the napkin and table cloth of the epicure, ought to be manufactured into paper and converted into cookery books. The sails of a man of war, into charts, journals and Hamilton Moore's navigation. The parson's linen and band, into sermons. The ladies' into love-letter paper; the politicians shirts into newspapers; the merchant's into day-books and ledgers; the lawyer's into boads, writs and reports; the speculator's into maps of land and paper money; the miser's into judgments and mortgages; the soldier's into Duane's hand-book and Wilkinson's memoirs; the printers (poor devils, if they have any) into Munchausen's travels, and tales of wonder.

After all, reader, what are we but rags? Some coarser, some finer.—Some used now for a better, some for a more ignoble purpose. But death, that inexorable rag-man, shall pick us all up at last; and whether we come out from our pollutions a white and pure sheet, or whether a different lot awaits us, is a mystery too profound for the Cogitations of Uncle John to unravel.

AMERICAN FREEDOM.

DRIVEN from her path on Ocean's wave,
Devoted, sinking to the grave
Was Freedom—And was none to save?
Yes Vengeance woke, and Valour rose,
Nor cast a thought for num'rous foes,
Dared Despotism to the fray;
Met the fierce demon in midway,
And wrote the record on his brow
Of Freedom saved—How stands she now?
As the great arch messenger of heaven
(In holy vision at Patmos given)
Was shadowed forth; behold her stand,
With one foot resting on the land,
And one upon the vasty deep,
Braving the storms that 'round her sweep:
While Commerce forth from durance flies,
To load the gales of eastern skies;
On rolling seas and far away
Are gone the guests of yesterday;
Tired of the peaceful green-hill side,
There is the world of waters wide.
Go pride of Freedom's progeny;
Whatever part your prows shall see,
Be it on India's pearly shore,
Or where the Lapland tempests roar;
Whose wizzards sell the power to tie,
The demon spirit of the sky;
Fear not, if Commerce mark the strand,
The grasp of kind, compatriot hand
Shall greet you there—go blithe and brave;
Your cheer along the wasteful wave,
Shall be to sing of triumphs proud,
Of Ocean's scourges scourged and cow'd—
But no—it grads not Ocean's son,
For the day of high emprise is done
——Then boots it not—for warrior cheer,
There bodes another day, full near,
May bid our standard be unfurl'd
In stern defiance of the world.
But the peaceful happy wight ashore,
Asks heaven for martial days no more;
Lest the fateful changeful hand of war
Should dim the blaze of Freedom's star.
Forever to be safe and free,
Is what we dare not hope to be ——But through united energy.

Regulation of Ferries,

ON the OHIO, ALLEGHENY, MONONGAHELA, and YOUGHIOGENY Rivers, within the county of Allegheny, established by the Court of Quarter Sessions of the said County, agreeable to an act of assembly, entitled "An Act authorising the Court of Quarter Sessions in Allegheny County to regulate the Ferries within the same," passed March 13th, 1815.

1. The Rates of Ferriage shall be as hereinafter is ascertained, limited and appointed, viz:—

	Dolls.	Cts.
For a foot passenger,	00	6 1-4
a horse and rider,	00	12 1-2
a led horse,	00	12 1-2
a carriage of pleasure, with four wheels, drawn by two or four horses,	00	50
a carriage with four wheels, drawn by one horse,	00	37 1-2
a gig or chair,	00	37 1-2
a sleigh, or sled,	00	25
a cart and horse,	00	25
a road waggon,	1	00
a market waggon,	00	50
mail stage,	00	50
cattle, per head,	00	12 1-2
sheep and hogs, per head,	00	6 1-4
barrels of whiskey, salt, flour, &c. per barrel,	00	6 1-4

To prevent unreasonable delays, in the transportation of passengers, it is required that no person shall be detained on either side of the river more than ten minutes, after it may be in the power of the ferryman to transport him.—And, at ferries where two or more flats are kept, whenever a flat leaves one side of the river, a flat shall immediately be started from the opposite side.

To prevent accidents, it is required that boats shall not be overloaded, nor crouded, so as to subject the passengers to danger, or inconvenience.

Every person keeping a public ferry, within the county of Allegheny is requested to set up a copy of these rules and regulations, in some conspicuous part of his house, for the inspection of all persons whom them may concern.

By order of the Court,
E. PENTLAND, Clk.

DOCTOR CHISHOLM'S
Anti-Bilious Pills,

Of a quality superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a GENERAL MEDICINE, in this Country.

NOW prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India Islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates.

This extraordinary Medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuent of Bile, is without example; never producing debility or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child or weakly female:

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excruciating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flaxseed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and DISEASES OF THE LIVER, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case the dose may be increased according to the strength or constitution.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by
J. P. & J. W. SKELTON,
at their Wholesale and Retail Apothecary and Drug Store.

DOCTOR HANDY'S
WORM
DESTROYING LOZENGES,

A safe and efficacious medicine for destroying and bringing away WORMS.

MAY be used with safety by children of any age, or as common physic by the most delicate constitution, in any climate, without restraint of diet, or the smallest danger from cold. It may be given with advantage after the small-pox or measles; or as a family medicine, in any case where physic is necessary.—The most frequent seat of worms in the human body, is the intestinal tube; but occasionally they have been found in almost every other part of the body.

Some very extraordinary cases of Worms, of an unusual form and appearance, being brought away by these Lozenges, have been made public in England, where the rapid sale of the medicine has exceeded any thing of the kind ever known before; and has also proved, to a demonstration, its approved superiority, as an athelminthick, to the numerous puffed-up, useless nostrums, which are daily advertised in the newspapers.

A single dose of this valuable medicine has often been known to remove half a pot full of the Teres or Round Worms.

A few doses are generally sufficient to remove the Ascarides, a small white worm, the seat of which is either the stomach or rectum.

Even the Tape Worm, at all times the most difficult to destroy, may, by persevering in the frequent use of this medicine, be totally removed in the course of a few weeks.

To select cases, with the names of people who are not known here, and living at a great distance, would be useless, and take up too much of the readers time. We shall therefore only observe, for the benefit of those who are acquainted with the symptoms of worms, that they are known or suspected to exist by a pain in the stomach, attended with a sudden depression of spirits before eating; at other times the belly is hard, painful and distended with wind—costiveness, head ache, and trembling of the limbs, with a sense of something rising in the throat—pale complexion and emaciated body, with weakness and irregular appetite—convulsive, epileptic or falling fits—pains in the back and side, and frequent itching of the nose, and sometimes of the anus. The above and a long train of afflicting diseases may all be occasioned by worms, which are much oftener the cause of death than is commonly believed.

The above Valuable MEDICINE, is sold, ONLY, by
J. P. & J. W. Skelton.
At their WHOLESALE & RETAIL Drug Store, at the corner of Wood and Third Streets,

Public Bathing House.

THE Proprietors of THE PITTSBURGH STEAM MILL BATHING HOUSE, hereby inform the Public, that the capacity of the water reservoirs for that establishment is doubled, and so arranged that the cold and warm water are perfectly seperated. The public will not in future meet with the disappointments consequent on the former arrangement.

The cost of this establishment, has been considerable, and the Proprietors are sorry to say the proceeds arising from it are not sufficient to warrant the opening of it another season under the present limited patronage. It is however hoped that the new arrangement alluded to, together with a more extended knowledge of the great benefit arising from the use of Baths, in such a place as this, will in a short time, produce a more liberal encouragement.

The price of BATHING is 25 Cents. The House will be open from 5 in the morning till 10 at night.

DOCTOR N. SMITH,

RESPECTFULLY informs the inhabitants of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, that he has been regularly licensed to practice PHYSICK AND SURGERY, and has for several years been engaged in the practice of its various branches, and therefore offers them his services, particularly in the capacity of a Dentist, hoping that his thorough knowledge of this branch of his profession, united with assiduity in business, and exertions to please, will entitle him to the patronage of the public. He cleans, repairs and extracts defective teeth, inserts new ones in such a manner and of such materials, the knowledge of which is peculiar to himself. He deems encomiums upon his performances superfluous, as he has set a number of artificial teeth since his residence in Pittsburgh; those that have scruples respecting the operation are requested to call and satisfy themselves.

The operation of inserting and cleaning is attended with little or no pain.

He also prepares the highly celebrated Carbonic Dentrifice, which will keep the teeth white and prevent the collection of Tartor.

Applications made at Dr. MORRIL PARKER'S east side of Wood street, between Diamond Alley and Fifth streets, October 14, 1815.

N. B. If the expectations are not answered, pecuniary satisfaction will not be required.

Citizens of Pittsburgh,
AND
Customers of the Pittsburgh Steam Mill.

THE proprietors of the Pittsburgh Steam Mill, inform the public that they have on hand a good supply of Wheat and a large quantity of Corn, and therefore expect to furnish during the season, on reasonable terms, FRESH FLOUR, and boulted CORN MEAL, of a superior quality.

WHEAT, RYE and CORN, purchased at the highest prices given.

STEAM ENGINE FACTORY,

for furnishing Steam Engines on Oliver Evans' construction, which daily experience is proving to be the cheapest and most powerful.

AN AIR FOUNDERY,

on an extensive scale, capable of furnishing castings of any description, but particularly adapted to machinery.

AN ANVIL AND ANCHOR FACTORY, capable of furnishing anvils and anchors of the largest size.

A BRASS FOUNDERY,

calculated for general castings, but particularly for machinery and large bells, which will be warranted of the first quality.

A BUTT-HINGE FACTORY,

will also shortly be in operation, on a scale sufficiently large to supply any demand. It is also intended to supply small castings annealed.

A PATTERN MAKER'S SHOP, AND A BORING AND TURNERS SHOP.

The lathes are driven by the force of steam, and all orders in the different branches of turning Iron, Brass, Wood, &c. will be executed with dispatch.

They also carry on the business of
SCREW MAKING,

and are prepared to furnish Rolling and Slitting Mill, Paper Mill, Fullers, Tobacco and Millstone Screws, &c.

The Pittsburgh Steam Engine Company flatter themselves that the nature and extent of their establishment, will enable them to furnish any article in the mechanical line particularly, on as short and as favorable terms as any establishment in the state.

They have on hand a STEAM ENGINE, sufficiently powerful to grind from 20 to 25 bushels of Wheat per hour, in the best manner. Also, a number of Paper Mill, Fullers, and Mill Screws, and Sugar Mill apparatus.

TO FARMERS.

THE following valuable TRACTS of LAND, situate on Conequenessing and Brush creeks, in North Sewickly township, Beaver county, Penn. are offered for Sale.

No. 190, containing 200 acres On this Tract there are about 30 acres cleared, and the greatest part is rich bottom—on the premises are a good framed dwelling house, one story high, with a good garret in which is one large room and a sleeping room—a framed kitchen adjoining of a good size, with a cellar underneath, and a spring house before the door, the water of an excellent quality—the tenant is under obligation to build a barn—A house of worship about 80 rods distant.

No. 178, containing 132 acres or thereabouts, On this Tract about 20 acres are cleared, from which no crop has as yet been raised, the greater part bottom—the land of an excellent quality—to this tract is attached the one-third right in a saw-mill and a small quantity of land adjoining.

No. 173, containing 200 acres, is almost entirely bottom land on Brush creek—about 15 acres cleared—this tract is exceedingly rich and fertile, fit for meadow or corn ground.

No. 134. The undivided fourth part of 200 acres, near the Iron works of Doctor Basse—the soil good.

ALSO—Several Lots in the Town of Stone'sville.

The three first Tracts are situate 9 miles from the Town of Beaver, from one-fourth to one mile from the great road from Beaver to Mercer, and about five miles from Harmony—there are four grist mills distant from one and an half to five miles.

Farmers wishing to purchase good lands are invited to view the premises, and for further information to call on the subscriber. The title is indisputable, and the terms easy, and to accommodate farmers either Tract will be sold separate, or the whole together. tf.

MILL STONES.

THE subscriber has removed a pair of MILL STONES from the public landing. They have been laying there for many years. By making enquiry the owner could not be found—they are much defaced, and appear to be useless for the purpose of grinding grain. Finding they will answer my purpose, I agree to pay to the owner a fair price, or deliver them up on demand.
